

Sensei Glenn Genovas - Instructor - Nidan

Sensei Glenn Genovas started his American Jiu Jitsu training in 1982 in Long Island, NY. He achieved the rank of Shodan and instructor certification in 1986, and Nidan in December 2006. In addition to jiu jitsu, Sensei Glenn studied with instructors in various styles of martial arts. He is trained in grappling, arnis de mano, knife defense, and kick boxing. Sensei Glenn has taught Public Safety officers in Pennsylvania in hand-to-hand techniques, organized demonstrations in Pennsylvania for the Boy Scouts and local schools, and participated in jiu jitsu demonstration teams on Long Island. In 1998, Sensei Glenn performed with the American Jiu Jitsu Demonstration Team at the Arnold Classic in Ohio, an international competition, where his team's first appearance earned them 4th place. Sensei Glenn holds a Bachelors of Science in Athletic Training/Sports Medicine and Orthopedic Rehabilitation and is a licensed massage therapist. He also has his own private practice in Manhattan. While studying Sports Medicine in Pennsylvania, Sensei Glenn headed his own school for five years, which he then passed on to another instructor and moved back to New York City. Sensei Glenn continued his teaching at the American Jiu Jitsu Fudoshin Dojo in Commack, New York and is now sharing his expert teaching ability with the students at New York Jiu Jitsu.
